

Introductions / Réamhrá

As Chairman of Donegal County Council, I am delighted to welcome this 27th edition of the Earagail Arts Festival. Founded by Donegal County Council in 1989, the Festival continues to act as an annual, high profile focus for the very best of contemporary and traditional, local and visiting Irish and international arts.

I would also like to take this opportunity to extend a warm Donegal welcome to the many visitors who travel to our county at this time of year. I hope you find much to engage and entertain you and that your stay here is a pleasant and memorable one.

Donegal County Council is mindful and appreciative of the considerable support afforded to the Earagail Arts Festival by The Arts Council, Fáilte Ireland and all public funders, commercial sponsors and individual donors. Following the tremendous success of the inaugural Wild Atlantic Way route in 2014, both Donegal County Council and the Festival are very pleased to be working again with Fáilte Ireland on this new and much praised initiative. It highlights Donegal's fabulous Atlantic coastline and places the rich contemporary culture of our coastal communities at the forefront of the county's tourism offering.

As has been the case from the outset, this year's Festival has benefited from the input of a rich network of artistic partners, a product of the vibrancy, resilience, depth of imagination and community focus that characterises the cultural sector in Donegal today.

I wish the Festival the very best this year and I look forward to many more to come.

Clr. John Campbell.

Cathaoirleach, Comhairle Contae Dhún na nGall Chairman, Donegal County Council

Thar ceann Chomhairle Contae Dhún na nGall, tá lúcháir orm fáilte a chur roimh an 27ú bliain seo d'Fhéile Ealaíne an Earagail. Bhunaigh Comhairle Contae Dhún na nGall an fhéile i 1989, agus tá sí ag feidhmiú léi ó shin i leith mar ardán an-suntasach bliantúil do na healaíona agus d'ealaíontóirí den scoth, ó Dhún na nGall agus ón taobh

Ba mhaith liom fosta fáilte fhíor-Chonallach a chur roimh na cuairteoirí uilig a thagann go Dhún an nGall fán tráth seo den bhliain. Tá súil agam go mbainfidh sibh sult mór as imeachtaí na féile agus as bhur saoire anseo linn.

Tuigeann an Chomhairle Contae a thábhachtaí is atá an tacaíocht mhór atá tugtha d'Fhéile Ealaíne an Earagail go dtí seo, ag an Chomhairle Ealaíon, Fáilte Ireland agus ag na maoinitheoirí poiblí go léir, le cois urraitheoirí tráchtála agus deontóirí aonair, agus tá sí an-bhuíoch as Tá an-áthas ar an Chomhairle Contae agus ar lucht eagraithe na féile araon a bheith ag comhoibriú arís le Fáilte Ireland ar an tionscadal nua samhailteach sin. Slí an Atlantaigh Fhiáin, ar éirigh thar barr leis ina chéad bhliain, 2014. Creideann an Chomhairle go bhfuil an tús ar leith seo i ndiaidh ár gcósta galánta ar an Atlantach agus an saibhreas iontach cultúrtha a bhaineann leis - a chur os comhair pobal nua náisiúnta agus idirnáisiúnta.

Mar a bhí amhlaidh ón tús, tá Féile na bliana seo ag teacht i dtír ar ionchur ó ghréasán leathan de chomhpháirtithe ealaíon, ar ionchur é atá mar thoradh ar an bheogacht, an teacht aniar agus an tsamhlaíocht dhomhain a bhaineann le hearnáil chultúrtha Dhún na nGall sa lá atá inniu ann.

Guím gach rath ar an fhéile sa 27ú bliain seo agus tá mé cinnte go n-éireoidh go geal léi fosta sna blianta atá romhainn.

Woven into the fabric of the 2015 Earagail Arts Festival is the very essence of Donegal's cultural and social history, new and old. In this new format programme, we celebrate the unique and idiosyncratic character of Donegal's musical tradition through the inaugural Donegal Folk & Roots Festival, featuring some of the county's most established and fast emerging artists in collaboration with guests from around the globe, whilst we theatrically investigate and interpret the once thriving cottage industry of knitting in our centrepiece production She Knit The Roof, Complemented by a series of landscape walks enhanced by artistic performances, a diverse international visual arts programme and a new theatre symposium investigating the creation and presentation of works in the rural context, you will find new productions in some wonderful new venues. With some of Ireland's best loved creative troubadours, we invite you to come along for the journey on one of the most visually inspiring and culturally rich routes of the Wild Atlantic Way.

Tá stair chultúrtha agus shóisialta Dhún na nGall mar chuid de dhlúth agus d'inneach Fhéile Ealaíne an Earagail 2015. Sa chlár, a bhfuil leagan amach nua air, déanfaidh muid traidisiún sainiúil ceoil Dhún na nGall a cheiliúradh trí fhéile úrnua, an Donegal Folk & Roots Festival, a mbeidh idir cheoltóirí atá ann le fada agus cheoltóirí óga páirteach inti agus iad ag seinm le haíonna as gach cearn den domhan. Agus tabharfaidh muid léargas ar leith sa dráma She Knit The Roof ar thionscal baile a raibh an-rath air tráth. Lena chois sin, beidh sraith de shiúlóidí faoin aer againn a mbeidh léirithe ó ealaíontóirí mar chuid díobh: reáchtálfar siompóisiam amharclainne ina ndíreofar ar chruthú agus ar chur i láthair saothar i gcomhthéacs na tuaithe agus beidh léiriúcháin le feiceáil i roinnt ionad nua atá go hiontach ar fad. Tugann muid cuireadh duit dul ar thuras le cuid de na trúbadóirí cruthaitheacha is mó meas ar cheann de na bealaí is spreagúla don tsúil agus is saibhre go cultúrtha ar Shlí an Atlantaigh Fhiáin.

FRIDAY 10TH JULY, 8PM · €18/€15 LETTERKENNY, REGIONAL CULTURAL CENTRE

Since releasing three project albums in one year back in 2012, The Unthanks have been hiding away in Northumberland, quietly working away on an ambitious follow-up to 2011's Last, released to coincide with this tour and brought to life on stage with a talented 10 piece band. Nominated for the Mercury Music Prize and the only British folk representation in The Guardian's and Uncut's best albums of the last decade (worldwide, all genres), The Unthanks have an army of notable fans, including Elvis Costello, Colin Firth, Robert Wyatt, Rosanne Cash, Paul Morley, Martin Hayes, Ryan Adams, Ben Folds, Ewan McGregor and Nick Hornby.

Definable only by their restless, peerless eccentricity, The Unthanks see folk music less as a style of music and more as an oral history that offers perspective on our own time. Their unique approach to storytelling straddles the complex relationship between modernism and learning from the past. Staunch traditionalism and sonic adventure may seem like polar opposites, yet they are easy bedfellows in the gentle hands of The Unthanks.

SATURDAY 11TH JULY, 8PM (DOORS OPEN) · €20 LETTERKENNY, CLANFEE HOTEL

In homage to Donegal's inspiring western mountain range the "Seven Sisters", a true legend of Celtic music, Clannad's lead vocalist Moya Brennan presents a gala celebration of female artists from Donegal and around the world. Accompanied by the three part harmonies of The Henry Girls, the choral presence of the Inishowen Gospel Choir, rising singer/songwriters Aisling Jarvis and Leila Keeney with American folk singer Twain, this unique concert will feature our very special guest, the Soul of Morocco, Sahrawi singer Oum and a performance by the Japanese Yushuro No Kai dance group.

In her music making, Moya has never been content to nestle within comfortable boundaries. From an early age she trod the boards with her father Leo in the dance halls, then became fixated with the likes of Joni Mitchell and the Beach Boys before going on to share, with her band Clannad, an enlightening discovery of the extraordinary wealth of Celtic history and melody on her doorstep.

Oum shines as a cultural ambassador of Morocco due to her personality, talent and commitment. Her intense voice and songs reflect her cultural heritage, spinning wonderful connections between soul, jazz, Gnawa rhythms, and the resonance of the Hassani dialect of her Western Sahara origins.

SUNDAY 12TH JULY, 2PM · €8/€6 LETTERKENNY REGIONAL CULTURAL CENTRE

Acclaimed musicians each in their own right, Caitlín Nic Gabhann and Ciarán Ó Maonaigh have joined forces to create one of traditional music's most impressive acts. The pair's spirited music and dance is rooted in the tradition; brimming with soul and life. Through fiddle, concertina and dance, Caitlín and Ciarán breathe fire into musical pieces, with a connection as deep as the Irish folk traditions they come out of. Their music is a joyful unleashing of talents learnt at the hearths of their parents, family and friends. Ciarán's fiddle is complimented by Caitlín's concertina and dance, her footsteps expertly tapping out the rhythms and elevating the duo's musical excellence.

Leila Jane embraces the beautiful sincerity of the delta blues and American folk music in her performances, with a repertoire of songs of her own creation and those that have inspired her along the way. After a performance at the Cambridge Folk festival in 2013 her sound was described as "somewhere between Janis Joplin and Sandy Denny". Commissioned specially for this year's festival, Leila has invited the mercurial American singer Twain to collaborate for a series of concerts in Donegal.

Fronted by singer, songwriter and multiinstrumentalist Travis Ward, Hillfolk Noir is a trio of neo-traditionalists playing traditional music on traditional instruments for nontraditional times. They call it Junkerdash, and it's a sound brewed from folk, bluegrass, punk, string-band blues and other influences musical and otherwise. One of the hardest-working bands on the US roots music circuit, Hillfolk Noir have built themselves a huge Stateside following playing what has been described as music "filtered through a country-tinged, swampy-swingin', hillbilly-delta-blues-ragtime word machine". Working out of Boise, Idaho, they were widely recognised as one of the outstanding highlights at last year's SXSW in Austin, Texas, and have won a lot of fans in the UK too after four successful tours on this side of the Atlantic. One of those fans, the legendary BBC presenter "Whispering" Bob Harris has described their music as "amazing."

BALLYBOFEY, BALOR ARTS CENTRE

Makings are a four-piece electro-rock group based in Dublin. The band, a hotly tipped rising property on the Dublin music scene, fuses electronic beats and synthesizers with four vocals, guitars, and pounding live drums.

February 2015 saw the launch of their debut album 'Cognition' to a capacity crowd in The Grand Social, Dublin. Two of the band members, Paddy Reynolds & Barry Shock, hail from Ballybofey so this will be a special homecoming show for them.

Having just signed a worldwide distribution deal, the band are currently gearing up for a UK tour in June. The event will also feature DJ Grinder and another act yet to be announced.

Wild Atlantic World - The McCrary Sisters & The Inishowen Gospel Choir

FRIDAY 24TH JULY, 8PM · €18/€15

For Nashville's McCrary Sisters, the daughters of the late Rev. Samuel McCrary - one of the original members of the legendary gospel quartet, The Fairfield Four - music is a birthright, a lifelong love affair, an indescribable joy, and occasionally, a cross to bear. The Sisters have long been the go-to gospel singers in Music City, featured heavily on Buddy Miller and Patty Griffin's spiritual albums as well as singing with Dr John, Bob Dylan, The Mavericks, Solomon Burke, Bonnie Prince Billy and a huge host of other top-tier roots, soul, gospel and Americana artists. The McCrary Sisters truly come into their own onstage and their live shows are a completely uplifting, life-affirming experience that should on no account be missed.

The 30-member Inishowen Gospel Choir, based in Carndonagh, Co. Donegal, celebrates it's 10th anniversary in 2015. Managed by Yvonne McFadden and musically directed by Dr Neil Burns and Anna Nolan, the group has performed at festivals throughout Ireland for a number of years and has a growing international profile, having performed in France, Poland and Glastonbury for three consecutive years.

Wild Atlantic World - A Night with The Henry Girls

SUNDAY 26TH JULY, 8PM · €15/€12
ISLE OF DOAGH, DOAGH ISLE COFFEE HOUSE,

The Henry Girls are three sisters from Malin, County Donegal. Their music is infused with the rich cultural heritage of their native Donegal but with a transatlantic flavour. Over the last number of years they have become one of the finest Irish exponents of folk/roots music.

Whilst their simmering harmonies and delicate musicianship have been revered since their early days, in the last number of years they have also been renowned for their song-writing skills and collaborative versatility. Successfully intertwining their traditional roots with contemporary elements, has earned them both commercial success and spectacular critical acclaim on both sides of the Atlantic. For this special closing concert of the Earagail Arts Festival in 2015 they will be joined by American folk singer Charlie Roth, local chanteuse Sarah Cullen, former Winter Mountain vocalist Marty Smyth and the Carndonagh Back to Brass Octet.

B'fhéidir go raibh tú féin? Ar na saolta seo, thig leat geansaí a cheannach a rinneadh le meaisín i monarcha i bhfad bhfad i gcéin, agus a bheas níos saoire ná ceirtlín olla. Tabharfaidh dráma úr, déanta de láimh i monarcha Bábóg Chroithlí, léargas duit ar shaol dearmadta seo na cniotála. Cluinfidh tú scéalta faoin fhear as na Gleannta ag teacht leis an snáth, faoi na páistí á ruaigeadh as an seomra le go dtig leis an lucht cniotála na scéalta nuachta a phlé, faoi phatrúin, stíleanna

At one time there were 20,000 knitters making Aran jumpers for the world from their homes in Donegal. Your Granny was probably one of them - or your Mammy or your Auntie. Perhaps you were too? Nowadays, you can buy a jumper that was machine knit in a factory far, far away for a price cheaper than a ball of local wool. A new theatre piece, hand made for you in the old Crolly Doll Factory, will take you on a spin into the forgotten yarns of our knitted history. You'll hear stories about the man from Glenties arriving with the yarn, of children sent out of the room for the knitters to catch up on the 'news', of patterns, styles and lives changing over the years, and of economic survival earned by the clash of needles late into the night.

Can't Pay? Won't Pay!

by Dario Fo, translated by Lino Pertile, adapted by Bill Colvill and Robert Walker

THURSDAY 16TH & FRIDAY 17TH JULY, 8PM · €12 / €10 LETTERKENNY, AN GRIANÁN THEATRE

For their debut production, the new Bread and Roses Theatre Company present a Donegal treatment of Dario Fo's classic Italian political comedy farce, Can't Pay? Won't Pay! Directed by Katheen McCreery, the excellent cast features Valerie Bryce, Margaret Hannon and Eoghan Mac Ghiolla Bhríde from last year's hugely successful Festival play, Fiesta, along with Martin McGinley, best known as one of Donegal and Ireland's finest fiddle players.

Antonia and her neighbours are desperate: with the cost of living spiralling, they're struggling to feed their families. When their local supermarket puts up the prices yet again, the women snap. A mutiny kicks off, the shelves are cleared and freezers emptied in a joyous protest against the market forces that are keeping them impoverished. But Antonia's hard-working husband Giovanni is honest as the day is long, so she enlists the help of her friend Margherita to hide the shopping she's 'liberated', spinning ever more surreal stories which leave their menfolk reeling. Soon the police are in hot pursuit and there's an epidemic of spontaneous pregnancies as the consumer backlash spreads like wildfire. The only actor to ever win a Nobel Prize, Dario Fo's farces are as fiercely provocative as they are funny, and as relevant today in Donegal as in Fo's native Italy.

The Dubliners Dilemma

based on Dubliners by James Joyce, adapted and performed by Declan Gorman

SUNDAY 19TH JULY, 8PM · €12 / €10 LETTERKENNY, AN GRIANÁN THEATRE

MONDAY 20TH JULY, 8PM · €12 / €10

Joyce is regarded as one of the world's greatest ever literary figures. How did this penniless young graduate emerge from the obscurity of his native city to achieve international renown? It almost never happened. 1914. London. Grant Richards was determined to re-read Joyce's manuscript, eight years after rejecting it over fears it might breach British and Irish obscenity laws. As the streets of Dublin and the racy, comic stories of Joyce's childhood and young adult world spring to life around him, Richards relives his frustrating correspondence with the petulant Irish writer. Fourteen other publishers have turned him down. Should Richards be the one to risk everything now, second time around, and launch this volatile but brilliant genius on a world about to descend into the madness of war?

Described as "mesmerising", "compelling" and "ingenious", Declan Gorman's acclaimed solo performance brings the stories and controversies of James Joyce's remarkable first book "Dubliners" to vivid life.

Welcome to Maestro Cafaggi's fragile and fanciful world of soap bubbles where you will meet....the conductor without an orchestra the musician without an instrument and the breathless singer.

An eccentric conductor takes you into the slippery world of soap bubbles to perform for you a concert where the unexpected is always waiting in ambush; from odd instruments giant bubbles appear, bouncing bubbles, portable bubbles, bunches of bubbles, and where some people might be invited to enter into a giant bubble....

A theatrical show without words, a visual comedy. A show of clownery, mime and music, for audiences of all ages.

Coast, Town & Country – The Best New Voices in Irish Writing

SATURDAY 25TH & SUNDAY 26TH JULY €10 PER EVENT (€30 ALL EVENTS)

MALIN, MALIN HOTEL

Irish writing has undergone a huge shift in the last five years. Emerging from post-boom Ireland is a new generation of writers, seeking to make sense of our changed land. Through short stories, novels, humour and surrealness, they inhabit big cities, rural towns and anonymous coastlines. For this literary weekend on the Wild Atlantic Way, curated by Sinéad Gleeson, we're joined by some of this new generation, including Kevin Barry, Belinda McKeon, Sara Baume, Nuala Ní Chonchúir, Gavin Corbett and Lisa McInerney.

SATURDAY

This seminar will zone in on the important elements in fiction writing; using quotes, exercises and examples, Nuala will show participants how to be mindful in their writing, from start to finish, exploring early decisions in fiction writing: the importance of a strong title and a good opening; explore apt language use, story/plot and the creation of believable dialogue. The class will examine character under the following headings: motivation, conflict, profiles and naming. This class is suitable for the first-time writer as well as those who have been writing for a while. Participants will receive a handout.

He will talk particularly about 'Songs of the Three Townlands - A Donegal Family Repertoire', songs handed down from pre-Famine singers in South Donegal, tracing how they came to be sung by Paddy himself and by his mother Brigid before him. Grace Toland is the new Director of the Irish Traditional Music Archive. A native of Inishowen, Grace is a well known recorded traditional singer in English and Irish. ### The Long Road To Glenties

Introduced by Danny Diamond & Conor Caldwell

MONDAY 13TH JULY, 3.30PM · FREE

In 1964 Pete Seeger travelled with his family to the remote Bluestacks mountains of Co. Donegal to spend a single day in the company of elusive folk music legend John Doherty. Now, 50 years on, in The Long Road to Glenties, a presentation by Danny Diamond and Conor Caldwell, archival film footage of the meeting is revealed for the first time. Meeting in a caravan just outside the market town of Glenties, the Seegers spent a day filming and interviewing Doherty with the help of his friend and patron Malachy McCloskey and the English folk-music collector Peter Kennedy. This film footage is a lasting memorial to the unique bond formed between two musical figures who came from such different worlds, vet had so much in common. With thanks to the Seeger family, The Library of Congress and The Irish Traditional Music Archive.

Trinity's College Gallery: The Swing of the Sixties

4TH JULY - 27TH SEPTEMBER 11AM - 6.30PM (MONDAY - SUNDAY) · FREE CHURCHILL, THE GLEBE HOUSE AND GALLERY

EXHIBITION OPENING FRIDAY 3RD JULY, 7PM EVERYONE WELCOME.

The Glebe Gallery is delighted to exhibit a selection of 20th century works from the Trinity College Art Collections, Curated by Richard Wood for Lismore Castle Arts, the exhibition features key Irish and international pieces by Josef Albers, Karel Appel, Patrick Collins, Barrie Cooke, Carlos Cruz-Diez, Micheal Farrell, Robert Indiana, Cecil King, Roy Lichtenstein, Nano Reid, Patrick Scott, William Scott, Peter Sedgley and Victor Vasarely, accompanied by a portrait of George Dawson by Mick O'Dea and a student response by Barra Boydell from 1968. For over 55 years, generations of students, staff and visitors at Trinity College Dublin have been introduced to the excitements and challenges of contemporary visual arts, at the moment of their emergence, through a picture hire scheme, known on campus as 'The College Gallery'.

Established by George Dawson, founder of Trinity's Genetics Department, in 1959/60 the picture hire scheme was run by Dawson and a group of student volunteers including Richard Wood, a Trinity student at the time. The purpose of the hire scheme was to lend art works to students in halls of residence. The scheme was later extended to staff and departments. With the passage of time the collection grew and students, encouraged by Dawson's enthusiasm, developed their own critical eye and became increasingly involved in the process of collecting contemporary art at Trinity. Together with Dawson and other key staff members like Professor Anne Crookshank and Adrian Phillips, they traveled the length and breadth of Ireland and often further afield, feasting on 'the swing' taking place in the visual arts. Urban and abstract subjects began to dominate, resulting in bold styles and techniques such as hard-edge minimalism and silkscreen printing, Op, Pop and Kinetic art, reflecting wider, pervasive social changes. Student imaginations were captured and the College's Modern Art collection was firmly established.

The Glebe Gallery would like to thank Lismore Castle Arts and Richard Wood who conceived and curated this exhibition, Catherine Giltrap, Curator of the University Art Collections, and Carolyn Kelly, Collections Management and Curatorial Assistant, Trinity College Dublin, for sharing this exhibition with us.

Ar Chreag i Lár na Farraige -Léargas ar Shaol an Oileáin On A Rock in The Middle of The Ocean - An Insight into Island Life

Taispeántas le hEalaíontóirí Thoraí / An Exhibition by the Tory Island School of Painting

DÉ SATHAIRN, 11 IÚIL / SATURDAY 11TH JULY, 8PM · FREE TORAIGH / TORY ISLAND, SEOMRA ROGER CASEMENT, ÓSTAN RADHARC NA CÉIBHE / ROGER CASEMENT ROOM,

Baineann ábhar na bpictiúr sa taispeántas seo le tírdhreach agus imeachtaí a bhfuil tionchar acu ar shaol Thoraí. Tá siad primitíbheach agus eilimintiúil agus tá léiriú iontu ar chumhacht na farraige agus ar na failltreacha ar an taobh thuaidh den oileán. Tá stair agus oidhreacht na n-oiléanach ina dtéamaí tábhachtacha iontu fosta. Tugadh "péintéirí primitíbheacha" ar phéintéirí Thoraí nuair a thosaigh siad ag cur scuaibe le canbhas ach, dála ealaíontóra ar bith, tháinig athrú agus forbairt ar a saothar. Anuas air sin, tá glúin úr péintéirí tagtha chun cinn agus a stíl féin acusan. Tá léargas faoi leith ag achan duine de na healaíontóirí sa taispéantas seo ar an áit faoi leith seo, Toraigh. Le seoladh go hoifigiúil ag Micheál Mac Aoidh, Ealaín na Gaeltachta. Fáilte roimh achan duine.

The subject of the pictures in this exhibition are the landscape and events that shape life on Tory. The pictures are primitive and elemental, showing the power of the sea and the cliffs of the northern side of the island. The history and heritage of the islanders themselves are also themes in the pictures. The Tory painters were originally called "primitive painters" when they first put brush to canvas but, like any other artist, their work has changed and developed. Furthermore a new generation of painters with their very own style has emerged. Each of the artists in this exhibition has a special insight into the special place that is Tory. Official opening by Micheál Mac Aoidh, Ealaín na Gaeltachta. Everyone welcome.
